ARCI and ARCS have their ducks in a row to contribute - starting from the reinforcement its roots in the territory, from the international relations network built over many years of work, from the skills and experience gained in the field of cooperation, culture, migrants and refugees’ rights - to the social diplomacy in order to give a positive meaning to the word of the cooperation and re-launch an idea of solidarity and justice that starts from specific needs of people and not from the interests of narrow power groups. This will be the main objective of our work in the coming years.

Filippo Miraglia, President

International cooperation means building relationships, establishment of solidary processes, exchange of good practices, and definition of shared paths in the fight against global poverty. The only solution is to act together for a more just and sustainable future for all.

Silvia Stilli, Director
Who we are

ARCS is an NGO founded in Rome in 1985 under the impetus of ARCI, the largest lay association of social and cultural promotion in the world of the Italian Third Sector and spread throughout the country.

It is a non-governmental and social utility organization (NGO and ONLUS) registered in the list of actors as of Art.26 of L.125/2014. It is also registered in the national register of social promotion associations (APS-L.383/2000) with decree n. 419/II/2011.
The mission, history and values of the ARCI are rooted in the experiences of late nineteenth century mutual aid solidarity. Today, its activities support all forms of gathering for active citizenship, fighting against all forms of social exclusion, advocacy for liberties and participatory democracy for a global society of rights and justice.

ARCS has adopted these principles in building and consolidating international relations and partnerships. ARCS’s action plan for its international cooperation activities aims to involve communities of citizens and individuals in building relationships and collaborations between territories and communities, enhancing civil society gatherings, building networks of interest and strengthening democratic ownership. For the establishment of peace and rights and the eradication of all forms of poverty, injustice and social inequality, ARCS is committed to:

- education for world citizenship and peace;
- cooperation, solidarity and international volunteering;
- humanitarian aid and reception.

ARCS is part of the ARCI organization that works for cooperation and solidarity among the peoples of the so-called South.
People: human and volunteer resources

Employees, collaborators, consultants, mission operators, volunteers. In 2017, each person, according to his/her own role and skills, contributed to realizing the ARCS mission in Italy and in the rest of the world.

ARCS has a job description, an internal procedures manual, and an ethical code, all documents approved by the governing bodies, and which regulate the personnel policies and functions and the codes of conduct that the organization has decided to embrace.

ARCS guarantees equal treatment for women and men in the selection and training processes and in the criteria adopted to establish the system of career advancement and compensation. It banishes every form of discrimination and offers those who express the need to choose flexible schedules in compliance with the limits dictated for accomplishing the established objectives. ARCS agrees to guarantee adequate working conditions to every single person. An external organization monitors and manages issues related to risk prevention and the protection of workers’ health in the performance of their professional activities.

ARCS promotes volunteer activities by organizing work and awareness camps, social documentation workshops, civil service actions abroad and European voluntary service (EVS), youth exchanges. It also organizes international training internships thanks to agreements with universities and research centers. These include the Alma Mater University of Bologna, the CiRPS, the Belgian-Italian Chamber of Commerce, the University of Turin, the University of Sassari, the Sapienza University of Rome, and the Lazio Region.
Every year, many volunteers choose to approach the field of international solidarity through ARCS. They are generally young people between the ages of 18 and 35, interested in gaining professional experience in the field of international cooperation or in direct experience in contact with the local communities with whom ARCS has relations.

The volunteers who provide their services through ARCS choose this NGO also for the approach with which it cooperates in the world, which is based on intercultural processes rather than focusing solely on the individual project.

Values

Honesty  Each person in ARCS agrees, in carrying out their duties, not to seek personal profit and to constantly pursue integrity and rectitude in their actions and choices.

Equality  ARCS fights against all forms of discrimination, enhances differences and guarantees in every way uniformity of treatment in its operations, regardless of differences in age, sex, race, physical handicap, or religion.

Responsibility  ARCS has adopted its own code of ethics to establish clearly and transparently the responsibilities of each person, who works on behalf of the organization or who comes into contact with it, ensuring the proper fulfillment of the mission and complete adherence to the values that inspire the operations of the NGO in every field of action. ARCS also has an OIV (Internal Supervisory Body).

Transparency  Since 2011, ARCS is a member of in the Italian Institute of Donation, which certifies the correspondence of the work of the member organizations to officially recognized criteria of consistency, transparency and correctness and guarantees fairness in the use of resources and donations collected. ARCS is also a voluntary member of the “European Transparency Registry” established at the Joint Secretariat of the Transparency Registry (SCRT). It submits its financial statements to external independent certifier and its work to a panel of auditors.

Solidarity  ARCS works to realize an idea of solidarity and social justice that starts from the concrete needs of peoples and not from the interests of restricted groups of people. There are many instruments in place: territorial rooting, the solidity of the international relations network, and skills and experience gained in the field of cooperation, culture, rights of migrants and refugees.
Activities and areas of intervention

Democracy, participation, rights and culture

ARCS deals with projects of aid, solidarity, international cooperation, human development and education for active global citizenship, aimed at encouraging and promoting the active participation of citizens and communities in the construction of processes of peace, democracy, and social inclusion and the establishment of human rights.
Commitment to children’s rights and self-determination, economic and social gender empowerment, environmental and social sustainability in the pursuit of global well-being, conservation and enhancement of cultural and material heritage, protection of common goods, protagonism of minorities and migrants, solidarity in the emergency linked to humanitarian aid: ARCS performs its project actions on these main objectives, against all poverty, forms of violence, exclusion and social marginalism.

Its model of cooperation is based on democratic ownership, on equal dignity in partnership, between the North and South of the world, on the centrality of community relations. “Networking”, feeling and wanting to be not a subject to itself but part of a system, both in Italy and abroad, is at the base of the actions of ARCS and its modus operandi with territorial institutions, associations and cooperatives, research and training centers and entities, Universities, and the non-profit world. Partnerships and collaborations are built on the common sharing of the centrality of active participation in territorial relations.

For this reason, ARCS diversifies, in addition to its partners, its donors: from the DGCS of the Italian Ministry of Foreign Affairs and International Cooperation to the European Union, from decentralized cooperation to private donors and to Foundations.

Through information and awareness-raising activities, campaigns for associative fund raising, actions aimed at promoting qualified international volunteering, the exchange of good practices among active entities in training and research, ARCS mainly involves young generations in a process of awareness and training / self-training on issues of interdependence and sustainable growth.
The protagonism of the communities in the construction of cooperative relationships is also expressed in the attention of ARCS to the involvement of migrants, protagonists of the relationship and cooperation processes with their countries of origin.

Another instrument for promoting community relations is international exchange. Since April 2011, ARCS has been a member of the IID, Italian Institute of Donation, which annually certifies the correct use of the resources collected, with resolution of April 8, 2011, issued May 27, 2011.

The IID brand “Donate with Trust” trademark, granted to Associate Members, confirms that the work of the Non Profit Organizations (NPO) is in line with internationally recognized standards and meets criteria of transparency, credibility and honesty.

International cooperation and solidarity

For ARCS, cooperating means involving communities and citizens, building relationships between territories and people to develop together projects aimed at affirming human rights, peace and dialogue, promoting active citizenship and democratic participation. Exchanges and intercultural dialogue, justice and social cohesion, protection and enhancement of cultural and environmental heritage, defense of common heritage and dissemination of socially sustainable lifestyles, upholding the rights of children and youth, gender empowerment, legality and decent work are all areas in which ARCS has worked since its foundation.

Education for development and active global citizenship

National or foreign civil service  “Performance of civil service abroad offers young people a unique opportunity for personal and professional growth and enrichment and is a particularly effective tool for spreading the culture of solidarity and peace among peoples. Calls for SCN abroad - which are assessed by the National Office for Civil Service - are annual and are normally initiated together with those for Italy. Each individual project is carried out in collaboration with a host institution and a foreign country. Among those involved are both European and extra-European institutions, and over the years, projects have been carried out on all continents. The service lasts 12 months like Civil Service performed on the national territory and the stay abroad is expected to last 7 months. The first phase of service coincides with a training period which, as a guideline, has a duration of one month and it takes place in Italy. It starts from the general training that provides the guidelines on what are the founding values of the experience of SCN, continuing with the specific training that characterizes each project in a special way and functional to what the volunteer will do, concluding with ongoing training.” (Presidency of the Council of Ministers, Department of Youth and National Civil Service).

Volunteering and awareness camps  The main objective of the awareness camps is to organize non-profits activities, for a period of about 3 weeks, involving Italian volunteers and local actors (children, women, families and communities). A voluntary work camp is in fact a unique training experience, which allows you to get in touch directly with everyday international cooperation, facing local realities, experiencing the problems but also grasping the wealth from within.
Beyond the realization of specific objectives, in fact, a camp has above all the aim of training participants, promoting values such as social education, cultural promotion and mutual personal enrichment. In recent years, ARCS has concentrated the activities of the volunteer camps in video or photographic documentary workshops with professional tutors in the sector, in the belief that the visual medium is a privileged tool for knowing and interpreting reality, as well as creating participation and sharing.

EVS - European voluntary service ARCS is accredited by the National Youth Agency as a volunteer agency for the European Voluntary Service. The EVS is one of the actions of the YOUTH in ACTION European Commission Program. It offers young people aged 18 to 30 the opportunity to do volunteer work abroad for a period ranging from 2 to 12 months, working as “European volunteers” in local projects in various sectors. Through this experience, young people have the opportunity to express solidarity with others and acquire new skills useful for their personal training. Within our projects and our activities of solidarity and international cooperation, the EVS becomes an instrument of participation and knowledge of young people, promoting activism and active citizenship, stimulating new projects and expanding networks.
Lobbying and advocacy

Lobbying, advocacy and education for global citizenship are in the mission of ARCS and aim to raise awareness and influence the institutions.

In 2017, ARCS participated in and promoted national and international festivals and events, moments of meeting and exchange, thematic campaigns and made documentation materials.

ARCS participated in delegations of NGOs and civil society organizations, Italian and European networks and representations and promoted or co-promoted public initiatives and meetings with institutions and other non-profit and profit organizations on the main topics of advocacy and lobbying activities linked to the established objectives.

Campaigns and other activities

Ayounkon: urgent interventions of visual health

In 2017 ARCS managed a fundraising campaign to support the project “Ayounkon: urgent interventions of visual health for Syrian refugees in the Bekaa valley” which has the goal of improving visual health within the Syrian-Lebanese population through the provision of eye exams, the distribution of prescription glasses for the correction of refractive defects and the implementation of ophthalmological surgery for the most severe cases involving the most vulnerable part of the population.

Thanks to an effective referral network suddenly activated, about 90 cases of potential beneficiaries for cataracts have been already selected. Referrals were carried out by the Centers of Amal - the Lebanese NGO, partner of the project - scattered throughout the territory.

Thanks to the project, 20 surgeries were guaranteed.
Furthermore, the Youmedica Ngo makes a donation that allows about 15 additional surgeries and - thanks to an agreement - the H&H, an optical company, will donate 100 glasses and perform related screenings.

ZeroZeroCinque

The ZeroZeroCinque Campaign, composed of about 50 Italian civil society organizations (trade unions, associations, third sector organizations), is the Italian expression of a broader global movement to support the Tax on Financial Transactions, with the aim of countering speculation and recovering resources to be allocated to social development, to the fight against poverty in Italy and in the world, to the protection of the environment and common goods.

Italian Coalition of the global campaign for education

The Global Campaign for Education (GCE) was founded in 2002 as a movement composed of civil society associations, educators, teachers, NGOs and trade unions capable of mobilizing ideas and resources, and putting pressure on the international community and governments to commit to the achievement of the EFA objectives, the “Education for All-Fast track initiative” initiative (EFA-FTI) created to stimulate international education funding.
